Connecting to a Colibri® Database via Active Directory

Connecting to a Colibri® Database via Active Directory

The Active Directory user authentication allows the administration of the Colibri® user population within one system. Colibri® can search the AD and identify the user membership of AD–Colibri® groups. Via a link to the Colibri® groups, Colibri® can determine the roles and permissions for the user.

The setup of Colibri® and AD is described with the build in default groups of Colibri®.

CREATION OF AD GROUPS CORRESPONDING TO EXISTING COLIBRI® GROUPS

It is recommended to follow a naming convention, because of performance reasons Colibri® uses a search pattern at login time. Only one search pattern is supported.

ADMINISTRATE THE USERS IN YOUR AD

Depending on your AD system, add users to the AD groups with your system.

CONFIGURE COLIBRI® WITH THE AD SEARCH PATTERN (OPTIONAL)

Connect to a database, in the menu go to User Group Settings:
Administration/Permissions/Groups/Active Directory Tab

Set the AD Root and the AD Group Pattern. At login, Colibri® searches only for AD groups starting with:
“CHBS-APP-COLIBRI_ADT”

You can use wildcards (*) on any position in the pattern.

LINK THE AD GROUP WITH THE COLIBRI® GROUP

In the menu go to: Administration/Permissions/Groups/Link Active Directory Tab

Choose the AD group and the corresponding Colibri® group and press the Assign button. A Link ID is displayed and the AD Group Name appears. Now the groups are linked.

LOGIN WITH ACTIVE DIRECTORY AUTHENTICATION

The user has only to provide the server name, database name and check the Active Directory Authentication checkbox.

User ID and Password is not needed.
