Colibri® color management and communication

One-software platform designed for the global color supply chain, whatever the application or industry

Colibri® is unique, in terms of both the tools it offers and its user friendliness. Developed and tested together with reputed industry partners, this innovative color management and communication platform is tailored to the specific needs of consumer product and brand management companies, designers, prepress departments, manufacturers and material suppliers.

Thanks to new technologies, Colibri® can be cloud-hosted as well as managed in the user's own environment. This efficient system helps to reduce costs and bring products faster to market. It connects all partners in the color supply chain and provides all the tools required not only to specify colors accurately, but also to manage, manufacture and monitor colored products globally. Colibri® covers all processes from design and specification of color standards, through production, certification and approval, to material sourcing.

Highly versatile, Colibri® is suitable for flexographic, gravure, offset and screen printing in graphic arts, plastics, paints, coatings and ceramic applications. It can be adapted to a wide variety of manufacturing processes, making it ideal for numerous end uses, including packaging, printing, transportation, household appliances, construction, agriculture, and cosmetics.

With its modern architecture and centralized data storage system, Colibri® can easily be connected with enterprise resource planning and laboratory information systems, allowing rapid access to information on product and material quality.

Modular in design, Colibri® can help you achieve the results you require in the way you want.
